JESSICA CASSON
EXECUTIVE COORDINATOR FOR MĀLAMA LOKO EA

Partnering to Protect Our Coasts

The clogged ‘auwai kai (ocean channel) blocking the Loko Ea fish pond in Hale‘iwa from draining and receiving new salt water was severely altering the ecosystem of the ancient pond – an important waterway that had once produced native species of fish for the North Shore community. When the call was put out for volunteers to kōkua (help) on a recent Saturday morning, more than 80 people showed up, ready to work. “Each time they pulled out a thick patch of California grass, you could hear a victory cheer,” recalls Jessica Casson, executive coordinator for Mālama Loko Ea. “They cleared four to five tons of invasive vegetation and sand accumulations and the ‘auwai kai is flowing once again.” There must have been a lot of cheering that day.

The project is a prime example of the Community Restoration Partnership (CRP), a unique funding partnership of government agencies, private foundations and donors who recognize that collaborating with each other and involving community leaders can have a significant impact on an important problem. The Hawai‘i Community Foundation (HCF) handles the grantmaking for partners who currently include the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA), the Harold K.L. Castle Foundation, the Weissman Family Foundation, and the Hawai‘i Tourism Authority. The CRP participates in selecting worthy projects that are literally changing the face of Hawai‘i’s coastlines ... so vital to the well-being of local communities.

“We commend community groups who are taking responsibility in their own backyards, and putting in countless hours to protect our most treasured sites,” explains Josh Stanbro, Program Director – Environment & Sustainability at HCF. “It’s more important than ever to support community-led organizations doing on-the-ground restoration projects.”

So far, the CRP has provided more than $1.9 million to community projects in over 30 locations across the island chain. Now that’s something worth cheering about. 🌺

Community Restoration Partnership grants, totaling more than $1.9 million, have made a direct and powerful impact on Hawai‘i’s coastal areas:

- Removed 93 tons of invasive species and 80 acres of non-native vegetation
- Installed 56 acres of sediment retention systems, preventing 183 tons of sediment from damaging fragile marine environments
- Improved or restored 30 acres of streams and enhanced 130 acres of fisheries
- Trained 21,000 volunteers, who invested 91,000 hours in restoration projects

HCF’s Environment & Sustainability Program, including CRP, awarded over $4 million in 2013

to create cleaner, greener and more self-sufficient island communities.

ALI HOECK

20-YEAR-OLD GRANDDAUGHTER,
SMITH FAMILY FUND ADVISOR

The Gift of Water

The only kind of thirst being quenched at Pā‘ia Elementary School was a thirst for learning, because its water fountains were broken and the aging school had no water filtration system. For a while, the Parent Teacher Student Association (PTSA) stepped in, and with help from the Kent & Polli Smith Family Fund, would purchase jugs of water and have them delivered to classrooms. But, as Kent Smith saw it, “An onsite filtration and purification system would give the students easy access to clean water and the PTSA could then focus on supporting other needs.” He got to work collaborating with the PTSA and the Department of Education to set up and fund a reverse osmosis system in the cafeteria – enabling the school to bottle its own purified water.

Finding ways to help, as they did at Pā‘ia Elementary, is characteristic of Kent and Polli Smith, and an attribute they most closely associate with their son, Ian, who died tragically in a snowboarding accident in 2004. “Giving helps us deal with his passing,” Kent explains. Through a family fund on which daughter Tiffany and granddaughter Ali now serve as advisors, the Smith’s generosity has helped many.

Among them are the 350 kindergarten through fifth grade students at Pā‘ia Elementary who now understand how water gets filtered and why it is so much healthier to drink than soda. The children are noticeably excited about filling up their water bottles from the jug that sits in each of their classrooms and, as fourth grader Luka has noticed, “Some of my classmates drink three bottles a day!” 🌈

“Our new water is really fresh and pure ... it tastes so good!”

With more than 6,000 nonprofits in Hawai‘i, HCF helps individuals and families create a plan that matches their passions, fits their charitable goals, and guides future generations to carry on the legacy.

◀ In the process of helping more than 100 organizations, Kent and Polli Smith have created a multi-generational legacy that has changed the lives of many on Maui ... including their own.

SARA MIURA

CREATOR OF THE RISE UP SCHOLARSHIP FUND

Inspiring Future Generations

While growing up on Kaua'i, Sara Miura didn't plan on joining her family's business. She went away to college and majored in elementary education, but soon realized that her calling was closer to home. And she recognized something else about herself: "I knew that my future was going to include philanthropy; I just didn't know how."

Today, the 32-year-old is director of sales and marketing at Deja Vu Surf Hawai'i, an outgrowth of the M. Miura store that Sara's great-great-grandfather started as a candy shop in Kapa'a in 1909. She is also the creator of the Rise Up Scholarship Fund, established to benefit Kaua'i students pursuing college, especially those whose parents are divorced.

Understanding Sara's philanthropic goals, the Hawai'i Community Foundation was able to provide the support she needed. "HCF made it so easy. They helped me bring my vision to fruition and taught me that the power of a gift is not affected by its amount."

Sara was so intent to get the fund off to a strong start and to assist more than one student, she took on a part-time job as a server in a Japanese restaurant in addition to working full-time. Thanks to her perseverance and vision, two graduates of Kaua'i High School are getting support to pursue their academic dreams.

"I'm excited to see what contributions they make during their lives," said Sara, who is as inspired by the students as they, and all of us, are by her. 🌸

Sara Miura, fifth generation Miura, carries on the family business that started in 1909 as M. Miura store in Kapa'a.

◀ Graduate of Creighton University and now pursuing a doctorate in Physical Therapy, scholarship recipient Kendra Kawamura reflects on her journey: "I knew I had to leave the beautiful island of Kaua'i to pursue this career. Receiving support from Sara inspired me to strengthen my work ethic and inspire others who come from non-traditional families."

Each year, HCF gives out
$4 MILLION
in scholarships to more than 1,600 students, making HCF the third largest private provider of scholarships in the state.

▶ Now in her first year at the University of Colorado Denver, where she is majoring in biology and planning to pursue medical school, Tia Morishige (L) had the chance to meet and thank Sara Miura (R) at a donor event in Līhu'e. "I wouldn't have known from looking at her that she, too, had been through rough times," said Tia. The donation toward Tia's education is only part of the gift's benefit; "I saw what Sara did and I'd like to do that someday."

I love to see the lightbulb go on – whether in the minds of fellow teachers or our students.

LORI OKAMURA
TEACHER, HONGWANJI MISSION SCHOOL

The Gift of Learning

Tucked away in Nuʻuanu is a small campus abuzz with the sounds of preschool through eighth grade students in the ambitious and lively act of discovery. Sixth graders are building roller coasters out of pipe warmers to learn about kinetic energy. Kindergartners are reenacting the transformation of a caterpillar into a butterfly. Some middle school students are gardening, while others are tending to the worm bins, and still others are building computers from scratch.

It's a newly typical week at Hongwanji Mission School, one of the 18 schools participating in the Schools of the Future (SOTF) initiative, designed to transform the learning experience for Hawai'i's students, teachers and administrators, and produce graduates who can thrive in the 21st century. "We wouldn't be where we are without Schools of the Future," says David Randall, Head of School. Only two years ago, electronic devices were banned from the school with the exception of the tech lab. Now, there's a Bring Your Own Device (BYOD) policy that allows students from fourth grade on to carry their personal laptops, tablets and smartphones from home and use them for educational applications in the classroom. Second graders get a Google Drive account to be able to work collaboratively.

But as David Randall points out, and all of the SOTF participants know, "It's not technology we're teaching. What we're really doing here is setting students up for success." Project-based, student-centered learning encourages students to solve real-world problems, think critically, work in teams, and stay engaged. And, just as important to students like seventh grader Margaux, "Hands-on is a lot more fun. You don't just sit and listen, you do it!" 🌈

Whether building computers, planting in a garden, or simulating a roller coaster, elementary and middle school students at Hongwanji Mission School are learning by doing.

HCF partners with nonprofit, community and government leaders to design grantmaking initiatives and programs that generate long-term solutions for issues facing our community.

Now in its final year of a five-year, $5 million capacity-building initiative funded by the Hawai'i Community Foundation and managed by the Hawai'i Association for Independent Schools, Schools of the Future has made the following impacts:

- More than 70% of teachers at funded schools changed their teaching methods and reported that students are more engaged, more collaborative, and have a better understanding of academic content
- SOTF Professional Learning Communities reduced the isolation of teachers and increased collaboration
- SOTF was profiled in a national research report commissioned by Grantmakers for Effective Learning and produced by New York University
- SOTF teachers were invited to present their experiences at the International Society for Technology in Education conference

REI KITAGAWA

HENRY J. KAISER HIGH SCHOOL CLASS OF 2015

Broadening Horizons

“I feel like I’m part of something bigger: something beyond school, beyond Hawai‘i.” That’s how 17-year-old Rei Kitagawa describes the International Baccalaureate (IB) Programme she’s enrolled in at Henry J. Kaiser High School (Kaiser H.S.). Thanks to an award from an HCF donor advised fund, the junior will head to Australia this summer to attend the IB World Student Conference, where she’ll meet with peers from many countries to work on real global issues. “Excited and nervous” as she is about the upcoming trip, Rei is also thankful: “Someone I don’t know gave me an opportunity that will change my life.”

That someone is the late Peter Heinze who, with his wife Theresa – both world travelers and graduates of public schools – chose to support IB students enrolled at Kaiser H.S. “What a wonderful way for young people in Hawai‘i to develop a global outlook,” explained Theresa.

Kaiser H.S. is an authorized World School offering the IB curriculum in grades 9 through 12. “The IB curriculum is known for offering quality education for a better world, and it has really engaged our students to become active, compassionate and lifelong learners,” said Brad Bogard, IB Middle Years Programme coordinator at Kaiser H.S.

Recognizing through the examples of Kaiser H.S. students that “even modest gifts can be meaningful,” Theresa Heinze keeps asking herself, “What’s next?” “What else can I do?” It seems the lives she has touched through charitable giving turn out to include her own. 🌈

“I don’t think I would ever have this opportunity without the help of HCF and its donors.”

– REI KITAGAWA, Class of 2015

To learn more and to watch the video story, visit HawaiiCommunityFoundation.org/AnnualReport2014

◀ For her project at the end of Kaiser’s IB Middle Years Programme, Celine Lum studied the widespread use of parabens in cosmetics and ultimately made her own lotion with all-natural ingredients. She describes the program as “an amazing opportunity to explore the different fields I’m interested in.” The award that Celine was granted from the Heinze’s fund paid for her IB fees for grades 11 and 12. But the gift was about more than money for her. “It felt like a reward for working so hard and motivated me to keep exploring.”

THE ELLI KUPKE FUND: HONORING A MOTHER’S WISH

When he was 16, Peter Heinze’s mother, Elli Kupke, fled with her two children from East Germany to West Germany, becoming a seamstress with a master’s degree. Fulfilling his mother’s dream for a better life, Peter ultimately earned a Ph.D. in chemistry and became President and COO for BASF Corporation and PPG Chemicals Group. The donor advised fund Peter and Theresa Heinze set up in Elli’s honor supports opportunities for people to expand their knowledge of the world.

HCF helps more than 1,000 individuals, families and businesses make their philanthropic wishes come true.

*If you want to go fast, go alone. If you want to go far,
go together.*

– AFRICAN PROVERB

We believe that philanthropy is a powerful force for good.

It can be a boost to individuals in a time of need,
a catalyst for change, a spark for social innovation,
and a lever for reform.

Moreover, philanthropy can be a powerful force that brings significant meaning to the givers and a legacy beyond their lifetimes.

A Message to Our Partners and Friends

As one of the very first community foundations in the country, we've had the privilege of carrying out the charitable wishes of individuals, families and businesses across Hawai'i for 98 years.

And it truly is a privilege.

We're not only the stewards of more than 650 funds, we're also the keepers of their stories. Behind each act of giving is a purpose, a passion, a promise that we work to understand and honor.

The greatest contribution we can make—and the reason we've stayed relevant since 1916—is to maximize the impact of your gift. That means helping you invest wisely in projects, people and organizations that will, in turn, contribute to the well-being of this community.

Whether it's one donor investing in one student, or family members supporting a cause over generations, or a group of leaders pooling resources in the face of a large-scale community need ... philanthropy is a powerful force for change.

And the change that philanthropy affects goes both ways. The lives not only of those who receive, but also of those who give, are altered as a result of philanthropy. From our unique vantage point, we get to see how giving is a gift to the giver, offering the deepest kind of satisfaction that comes from knowing you have made things better for one person, one family, one community. The power of philanthropy can be felt both within and beyond a person's lifetime.

As we approach our 100th year, we are carrying on a long tradition of working with people who care about Hawai'i, and finding inspiration in their stories to make our island home an even better place.

KELVIN H. TAKETA
President & CEO

PAUL KOSASA
Chair of the Board

We strive to increase the level
of participation in
—and effectiveness of—philanthropy
in Hawai‘i.

What We Do

WE ADVISE

generous donors how to honor their philanthropic wishes and maximize the impact of their gifts.

programs that strengthen nonprofits to increase their effectiveness.

WE HELP

estate planners, accountants and financial consultants find the best charitable solutions for their clients.

WE PARTNER

with leaders in the public and private sectors to optimize resources and results for the community.

How We Help

With nearly a century of experience, the Hawai'i Community Foundation is the state's leading resource on nonprofits and philanthropy.

EXPERIENCE MATTERS

With expertise and trust gained over many decades, we raise the level and effectiveness of philanthropy in Hawai'i.

CONNECTIONS MATTER

By connecting more than 1,000 donors and clients to each other, we make your collective and individual philanthropy smarter.

SCALE MATTERS

With the largest grantmaking staff in Hawai'i, we provide cost-effective stewardship of more than 650 funds and $572 million in assets.

RELATIONSHIPS MATTER

With a network of nonprofit, community, business, and government partners, we help solve community issues.

RESULTS MATTER

At the heart of everything we do is a commitment to deliver meaningful impact. By leveraging our collective resources and cumulative knowledge, we create lasting benefits for our island communities.

Philanthropy is a personal expression of who you are and what you care about.

That's why we tailor your plan to your personal preferences and help you make smart and meaningful giving decisions.

Ways to Give

FAMILY PHILANTHROPY

The process of making charitable giving decisions as a family is a chance to share values and pass on a legacy of caring.

LEGACY GIVING

A legacy gift will have a long-lasting impact on a charity or cause that is important to you.

COLLABORATIVE FUNDING PARTNERSHIPS

Combining the resources of multiple funders toward a specific goal can benefit the community in leveraged ways.

INDIVIDUAL GIVING

With access to knowledge about community needs and causes, individuals can tailor their giving and maximize the impact of their gifts.

BUSINESS PHILANTHROPY

Businesses can support the community while achieving their own charitable goals.

Our Approach

The Hawai‘i Community Foundation takes a strategic approach to identifying where our clients and partners can make the greatest impact for the people of Hawai‘i. Each one of the initiatives and partnerships we engage in starts by identifying the highest priorities for the community, establishing strategic goals for change, and charting a path for how activities will accomplish targeted objectives.

Initiatives

As a resource, a partner, a funder, or convener, HCF collaborates with leaders from nonprofits, government and the community to create durable, positive social change across the islands.

FRESH WATER INITIATIVE

The quantity and quality of fresh water in our islands directly impact a wide array of issues including marine health, local food production, native ecology, and the cost of living. HCF’s Fresh Water Initiative engages a diverse group of leaders to develop a Blueprint for Action to protect Hawai‘i’s long-term fresh water supply in the face of increasing demand, reduced rainfall and impacts from climate changes.

STRENGTHENING NONPROFIT ORGANIZATIONS

Recognizing the essential role nonprofit organizations play in the economy and health of our community, HCF is committed to strengthening nonprofits and their leadership through grants and training.

FLEX Grants

Launched in 2013, the FLEX Grants program is a partnership of multiple funds designed to provide high-performing nonprofits in Hawai‘i with a source of flexible, unrestricted support that enables organizations to prioritize their own needs and enhance their effectiveness. In its first round, FLEX awarded over $2.9 million to 176 nonprofit organizations that practiced good management and demonstrated high performance.

Ho‘okele Awards

Established in 2002 in partnership with the Wallace Alexander Gerbode Foundation, the award recognizes outstanding leaders in Hawai‘i’s nonprofit sector.

Executive Transitions/Strategic Restructuring

These grants support planning and decision-making processes in order to assist a nonprofit as it navigates organizational change—including the transition from one executive director to the next, the negotiation of a merger, or administrative consolidation by multiple nonprofits.

PATHWAYS TO RESILIENT COMMUNITIES

This initiative builds on the successful model of a previous funder collaborative that supported the Hawai‘i Community Stabilization Initiative, which leveraged $4 million in private dollars from 12 funders to help families and individuals access more than $23 million in services and benefits during the recent recession. Pathways to Resilient Communities is a $12 million initiative supported by 15 funders focused on helping vulnerable populations in three areas: at-risk middle school students, families on the brink of being without a home, and our aging population. The first program, Connecting for Success, launched in 2013. Housing ASAP launched in 2014 and the program to address Hawai‘i’s kūpuna is under development.

Atherton Family Foundation	Hawai‘i Community Foundation	Omidyar ‘Ohana Fund
Bank of Hawaii Foundation	Hawai‘i Tobacco Prevention & Control Trust Fund	Richard Smart Fund
Central Pacific Bank Foundation	Kosasa Family Fund	Stupski Family Fund

Connecting for Success

Connecting for Success awarded 15 grants to 10 public middle schools and their community partners. Over three years, grantees are developing practices that increase students’ connections to school, reaching approximately 1,500 high-need middle school students to improve their attendance and academic performance while reducing the likelihood that they will engage in risky behaviors.

HAWAI‘I TECHNOLOGY TRANSFORMATION

In 2011, with the support of the Omidyar ‘Ohana Fund, HCF formed a partnership with the State of Hawai‘i to transform how government does business with and for Hawai‘i’s citizens. This large-scale 12-year initiative assists in the effective, efficient and convenient delivery of programs and services to the public through business process transformation and information technology modernization.

Partnerships

Recognizing that some of Hawai‘i’s toughest challenges require wide-reaching solutions, and knowing that we can do more by working together than apart, HCF partners with other organizations to achieve greater leverage for addressing community needs.

ARTISTS IN THE SCHOOLS

Through collaborative residencies, artists and teachers co-plan ways to weave art into the public school curriculum and help make learning experiential. As a result, students gain greater access to arts education and teachers’ capacity to teach both the arts and the existing curriculum is increased.

ENVIRONMENTAL FUNDERS GROUP

The Hawai‘i Environmental Funders Group (EFG) is a network of philanthropic individuals and institutions engaged in active, substantial grantmaking in the Hawaiian Islands. Convened and organized by HCF, the EFG’s purpose is to foster collaboration between members and to steadily increase the amount of philanthropic support for environmental and sustainability efforts in Hawai‘i. Since its establishment in 2009, EFG’s collective giving has more than doubled from $4.9 million to $10.8 million.

HAWAI‘I TOURISM AUTHORITY

HCF partners with the Hawai‘i Tourism Authority (HTA) to administer two HTA funded grant programs. HTA’s Natural Resources Program and Kūkulu Ola: Living Hawaiian Culture Program fund projects within the community that advance the goals of preserving Hawai‘i’s natural resources and perpetuating Native Hawaiian culture.

"In union there is strength."
– AESOP

HAWAI‘I TOBACCO PREVENTION AND CONTROL TRUST FUND

The Hawai‘i Legislature created this fund in 1999 from a portion of the money awarded to the state as a result of the multi-million dollar settlement with the tobacco industry. Under a contract with the Hawai‘i State Department of Health, HCF administers community grants to support tobacco prevention and cessation, which includes the Hawai‘i Tobacco Quitline, advocacy efforts, program evaluations, and a statewide communications campaign.

HAWAI‘I CHILDREN’S TRUST FUND

In 2013, the Hawai‘i Children’s Trust Fund (HCTF) celebrated its 20th anniversary. Since its inception by the Hawai‘i Legislature in 1993, HCTF has been a public-private partnership with the Hawai‘i State Department of Health to support programs aimed at preventing child abuse and neglect through grants for direct services, community events, public awareness, and advocacy. Community programs are primarily supported by a generous gift from the C.N. Wodehouse Hawai‘i Children’s Trust Fund Trust.

COMMUNITY RESTORATION PARTNERSHIP

Through this pooled fund, HCF, the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, the Harold K.L. Castle Foundation, HTA, and the Weissman Family Foundation provided more than $1.9 million in direct grant support for habitat restoration projects led by local communities. The partnership has restored fishponds, stream banks, wetlands, and other sites at over 30 locations throughout the island chain.

SCHOOLS OF THE FUTURE

This five-year, $5 million initiative is funded by HCF and managed by the Hawai‘i Association of Independent Schools. It is designed to support a cohort of independent schools in transforming their learning environments and teaching strategies to better prepare students for work and citizenship in the 21st century. Now in its final year, the initiative has captured national attention including being highlighted as a model project by the National Association of Independent Schools. The unique partnership also resulted in an annual Schools of the Future conference that has grown to over 1,000 educators from private and public schools.

2013: The Year In Review

The Hawai'i Community Foundation distributed more than $43 million in grants and contracts into the community from over 650 funds established by individuals, families and businesses who care about making Hawai'i a better place.

HCF Highlights

A total investment of $4.5 million to overhaul the state government's business processes and technology infrastructure garnered

$120 million

in state funds appropriated toward the transformation.

The Fresh Water Initiative met its

$1 million

launch goal and is convening key leaders to develop a Blueprint for Action in 2014.

Through HCF's leadership and the support of nonprofits and community members, House Bill 430 was signed into law, eliminating the charitable deduction cap from the Hawai'i income tax.

In its first round, FLEX awarded

$2.9 million

in unrestricted support to 176 high-performing nonprofits.

Hawai'i Youth Opportunities Initiative, helping youth transition from foster care to become successful adults, partnered with HCF, government agencies and youth board members to pass a law that extends voluntary care up to age 21.

Fifteen funders contributed over

$12 million

for a three-year Pathways to Resilient Communities initiative to focus on vulnerable populations in Hawai'i.

Through the Connecting for Success program, 15 grants supporting 10 middle schools and their partners will reach 1,500 at-risk students with services to help them stay in school.

In 2013, HCF distributed

◀ THE GEE FAMILY FUND

Darien and Darrin Gee created a donor advised fund at HCF with the hope of involving their children Maya, Eric and Luke in giving decisions as they grow older.

As Darien, mom, explains, “We can each identify organizations or causes that call to us, and then discuss it as a family before we donate.”

THE MICHAEL AND TOMOKO MALAGHAN FUND

Through the Michael and Tomoko Malaghan Fund, a donor advised fund at HCF, the Malaghans enjoy supporting programs that help people help themselves. Some of these include community school scholarships, small loans for single moms to buy cars, and wells in developing countries.

DESIGNATED FUNDS

These funds were endowed by individuals and organizations to ensure that their charities of choice would continue. In each case, the contributor selected one or more nonprofit organizations to benefit from the grants for as long as the charities exist.

Stewards of the Community

HCF’s capacity to serve the community is tied directly to its ability to preserve and enhance the financial assets it stewards. Toward this end, an Investment Review Committee, comprised of directors who are knowledgeable in investment and financial matters with the assistance of an independent investment monitor and HCF staff, oversees HCF’s investment activities. By declaration of trust, HCF manages active relationships with three local trustee banks. HCF also utilizes several other investment firms whose strategy is consistent with its investment policy.

2013 Volunteer Advisory Committee

Some funds at the Hawai‘i Community Foundation have advisory committees made up of thoughtful community leaders who provide their expertise to support the Board of Governors with grantmaking.

2014 Board of Governors

The Board of Governors establishes policy, sets organization-wide priorities and program strategies, and ensures that the financial stewardship and operations of the Hawai'i Community Foundation are conducted with integrity and accountability.

We wish to thank our Board of Governors for its insight and leadership during the year. We bid aloha to governors Charlie King and Colbert Matsumoto, and are pleased to welcome new governors Kimberly W. Dey and Katherine G. Richardson.
